LEONFORTE LATEST CITY TO BE TAKEN

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, July 29.—Allied forces drawing tighter their steel noose about enemy units trapped in the northeast corner of Sicily slashed forward today and occupied four more strategic towns while threatening to sever another enemy lifeline.

The road junction city of Leonforte, a vital link along the routes leading to Nazi-held Catania and Mount Etna, fell to the advancing Allied troops, along with the smaller towns of Pollina, Castelbuono and Gangi.

Increasing Pressure
Other Allied spearheads were applying increasing pressure to Messina, almost due north of Leonforte at the junction of a main north-south highway with an east-west road now seeing service as a vital avenue of escape for Axis legions withdraw in the direction of Randazzo, north of Mount Etna.

Near Catania, Canadian units continued to push slowly but steadily ahead while inflicting heavy casualties on the German defenders of that east coast port, a communique issued at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced.

(The Swiss radio was heard by Exchange Telegraph in London reporting that the Germans are beginning to demolish all military installations in Catania apparently in preparation for abandoning the city.)

Reports to headquarters said that German reinforcements still were

PA NEW OBSERVES

Progress is noted in the construction of the new hangar at New Castle airport.

Some of the bad holes in the concrete road to New Wilmington are being fixed. The rough places have been torn out and new concrete is being poured in sections.

Lots of victory gardeners in certain parts of the city and adjacent areas spent yesterday and last night in an effort to repair the damage to some of the crops occasioned by the unprecedented hail storm of the night before.

PA News is informed that all that is needed to make the benefit at Taggart stadium on Friday night a huge success is a favorable nod from the weatherman. The program is completely arranged, and the crowd is certain to be in attendance.

Up on the north hill a recurrence of the heavy storm of the night previous was experienced Wednesday afternoon, although there was no heavy hail accompanying.

Persons making the trip to Transfer daily report that the resurfacing of the highway from New Wilmington to the Sharon-Mercer road has been completed and is again in use. This route allows the trip to be made several miles shorter than around via West Middlesex.

First ration restriction to be lifted is for coffee. Announcement is made that coffee can now be purchased without any ration stamp.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine a. m. today are as follows:
Maximum temperature, 80.
Minimum temperature, 67.
Precipitation, 1.8 inches.
River stage, 5.7 feet.

Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:
Maximum temperature, 89.
Minimum temperature, 65.
Precipitation, 13 inches.

CORRESPONDENT SAYS GERMAN TROOPS ARE OCCUPYING ITALY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 29.—German troops last night began openly to occupy Italian soil for the first time since the fall of Mussolini, CBS correspondent Howard K. Smith reported today in a broadcast from Bern, Switzerland.

Quoting a dispatch from the Italian border, Smith declared Nazi detachments moved through the Brenner Pass and took over complete control of Trieste, Fiume and Pola. They now are proceeding rapidly with the occupation of the rest of the Istrian peninsula, he added.

(International News Service)
BOWLING GREEN, Ky., July 29.—Twenty persons were killed when a huge American Air Lines transport plane crashed in flames at Trammel, Ky., near Bowling Green, during unfavorable weather, authorities reported today.

A number of air force officers from Wright Field, Dayton, O., were among the victims.

Two Survivors
Only two persons both badly burned, survived the disaster. They were Lt. Glenn Fellows of the U. S. Army Air Forces at Dallas, Tex., and S. K. Kaufman, an official of the Aviation Corporation of America.

They saved themselves as the flames roared through the plane by leaping from a window.

Lt. Fellows, his clothes aflame, jerked a window from its fastenings and allowed Kaufman to leap first. Kaufman, also painfully

AXIS AIR FORCE OUSTED IN SICILY

No Longer Any Squadron
Based On Island Says
Report

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 29.—Axis air forces, driven from Sicily, no longer have a single squadron regularly based on the island, the latest information available in Allied air circles indicated today.

However, the enemy does have one or two improvised landing strips which he is using to bring in supplies and reinforcements, but the transport planes immediately take flight after dumping their cargoes.

Boasting the Allied air force information was an announcement that American A-36 Invaders and P-40 Warhawks had carried out a series of heavy strafing sweeps on the roads in the vicinity of Troina, Cesaro and Randazzo, three towns around the base of Mount Etna.

At least 30 enemy vehicles were destroyed and many others damaged, while bridges and road obstructions near Cesaro were also attacked.

Fighter-bombers hit the landing ground at Falcone, while Regalbuto was blasted by South African Air Force bombers and Baltimore, Milazzo was also attacked by Allied raiders, and RAF fighter-bombers destroyed a number of light vehicles on roads in the vicinity of Cesaro and Francavilla Novara.

See Three Courses Of Action In Italy Now Confronting Germans

By CAPT. JOHN H. CRAIGIE
Written Especially For International News Service
General Dwight D. Eisenhower said a mouthful in his radio message to the Italian people this morning when he stated that "the only remaining obstacle to peace is that German aggressors are still on Italian soil."

What are these Germans going to do, what will they prove able to accomplish and what orders will Hitler and the German general staff issue to govern their future activities? The fact that this constituted the major immediate problem in Italy was pointed out in this column. Up to the present there is no sure indication of its solution.

From Italy, via Madrid, via London, comes a report that Nazi troops are pouring into northern Italy in force and that Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander in chief of Italy's

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, July 29.—A Japanese destroyer and two large merchant vessels were heavily damaged and at least 16 enemy barges were sunk in Allied attacks on Japanese shipping from Dutch New Guinea to the Solomons, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

One of the raids, on a New Britain base, was accompanied by an air battle in which nine Allied fighter planes, escorted by medium bombers, engaged 15 Zeros and shot down six of them.

The communique told of no new developments in the ground-fighting before the besieged Japanese airbase at Munda, where American jungle troops were last reported almost within a mile of the flying field. But torpedo planes and dive-bombers continued the supporting aerial bombing of Munda by dumping 47 tons of explosives on enemy positions.

Destroyer Spotted
The enemy destroyer, accompanying a transport or cargo vessel and with a cover of fighter planes, was spotted by Allied reconnaissance aircraft off Cape Gloucester, New Britain.

Later the enemy vessels were attacked by heavy bombers which scored direct hits on both surface craft. When last seen, they were burning fiercely.

The second cargo ship, a 2,300-ton vessel, was also spotted.

Badoglio Regime Overthrow May Come From Delay

Indications Italian People
May Seek To Speed
Peace In Nation

MUCH UNREST IN NATION REPORTED

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 29.—The overthrow of Marshal Pietro Badoglio's regime as a result of his delay in asking for an armistice loomed as a possibility tonight amid indications that the Italian people may already be seeking to comply with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's terms.

Mounting unrest in Milan and elsewhere show clearly that Badoglio already is hard pressed to maintain order and power, well-informed observers said. They pointed to the contrasting tones of Italian overseas broadcasts with their home transmissions, with the former maintaining that the war will continue and the latter appealing for calm obedience to the government.

Further Unrest

Further delay by Badoglio, who now is plagued by internal stress in asking for an armistice was expected, thus creating still further unrest and lessening his already fading power.

Gen. Eisenhower's "forthright statement to the Italian people, telling them frankly of the necessity of ridding their country of German troops was viewed as a formidable wedge which may have great repercussions in Italy itself.

Meanwhile, the possibility was seen that the Italians even now are trying to comply with Eisenhower's bid.

Lending strength to that belief was a report that vigorous steps have been taken to prevent further entry of Nazi troops through the Brenner Pass. The belief grew in London despite protestations of the Rome radio that Italy will stay in the war with Germany against the Allies.

Testifying to the tension within the country was a Rome broadcast which announced that the Italian cabinet has prohibited formation of any political party for the duration of the war. At the same time the use of political emblems and badges was prohibited.

One Rome broadcast said the changeover from Mussolini's government to that of Marshal Badoglio was "perfectly constitutional" and added that "all of the energies of the nation must still be concentrated on the war."

"Over the frontier," the broadcast added, "they are spying out for signs of Italy's weakening... these hopes are vain."

Rome Bombing Large Factor In Mussolini's Fall

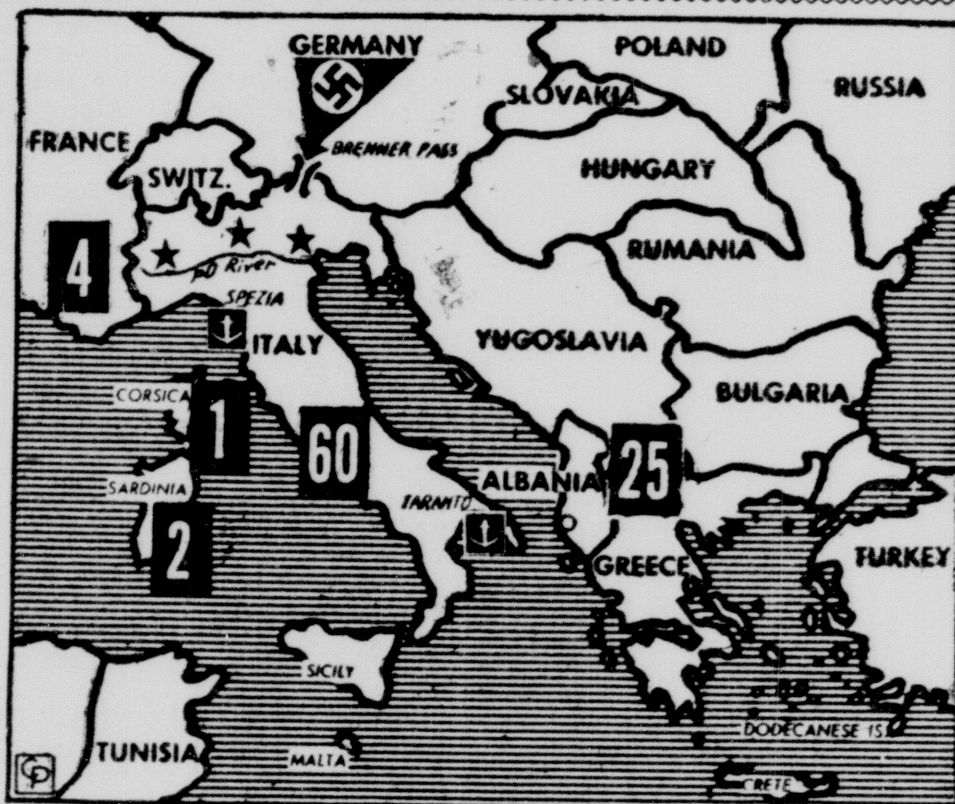

(International News Service)
SOMEWHERE ON THE ITALIAN-SWISS FRONTIER, July 29.—More than any other single factor, the American bombing raid on Rome brought about an irresistible tide of anti-Fascist sentiment in Italy and was the immediate cause of Benito Mussolini's downfall, travelers from the strife-torn kingdom reported today.

Effect of the bombing was "tremendous" and had a decisive influence on the mood of the people, these sources said, adding that at least 700 persons were killed in the attack, and tremendous damage wrought.

Italian war-weariness was said to have hit an all-time low with the Allied invasion of Sicily, but no untoward demonstrations occurred until the American planes came over Rome on July 19. The attack was

HITLER'S NEWEST PROBLEM

Turbulent and unpredictable conditions in Italy, brought on by the ousting of Mussolini, pose a number of vital problems to the German High Command. In the forefront is whether or not to pour enough troops into the Po Valley in Northern Italy to hold the vital airfields around Milan, Venice and Turin should Italy's divisions (numbered) to the homeland is for the defense of the country or final capitulation. The removal of these occupation troops will cause Hitler to draw on his fast-dwindling reserves to replace them. Should he fall back behind the Brenner Pass, the Allies will be able to fan their planes out over France, Germany and the Balkans.

Retreat Is Made In Effort
To Escape Encirclement,
Says Moscow Report

RUSSIANS DRAW CLOSER TO OREL

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
MOSCOW, July 29.—German troops beat a hasty retreat from one sector of the Orel front today to escape encirclement by forward-driving Soviet forces while in another area they rushed up reinforcements in the hope of stemming the Red Army advance.

The Soviet high command said that the retreat was made from the Bolshoy area after a blow delivered on the Nazi flank had cost the Germans heavy losses in men and material.

German reinforcements were rushed up north of Orel in motor cars after the Soviets had dislodged the Nazis from a number of inhabited localities.

Heavy Air Assaults
Bombers of the Soviet Air Force at the same time maintained relentless assaults against Nazi-held rail points and concentration centers behind the fighting lines to sap the enemy strength. The airdromes at Orel and Bryansk were plastered with bombs and direct hits were scored on military trains at both places.

Red army troops driving up from the south against Orel scored an important victory in capturing the important rail station of Stanovoi Kolodez, 11 miles southeast of Orel. Announcement of the fall of Stanovoi Kolodez was made in an official communique.

Early Peace For Italy De-

ALLIED FORCES ARE IN LIBERATOR ROLE

By CLINTON GREEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, July 29.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told the Italian people today that their nation will be granted peace under honorable conditions upon cessation of any assistance to German forces now on Italian soil.

The allied commander-in-chief, commending the Italian people and the royal House of Savoy for ridding themselves of the Fascist government of Benito Mussolini, declared that once the Italians cease their aid to the Germans the allies will rid Italy of the Nazis.

Gen. Eisenhower made it clear that the forces of the United Nations were advancing on Italy as liberators but emphasized that the nation must comply with terms of unconditional surrender already offered to the country.

He promised that if the Italians prevent removal of allied prisoners to Germany and release them the hundreds of thousands of captured Italians will be returned to their homes.

"We commend the Italian people and the House of Savoy on ridding themselves of Mussolini, the man who involved them in war as the tool of Hitler and brought them to the verge of disaster," said Gen. Eisenhower.

See No Refuge For Mussolini

Allied To Demand Fallen
Dictator Be Turned Over
For Punishment

FASCIST GANG NOT TO ESCAPE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 29.—The most hunted man in Italy today is Benito Mussolini, former premier of Italy.

President Roosevelt, in his radio address last night, gave blunt warning that Mussolini and his Fascist gang will not be allowed to escape but will be brought to book and punished for their crimes against humanity.

This strengthened belief that one of the major provisions of the unconditional surrender terms that will be given Italy will be that the former Italian dictator be turned over to the allies for swift trial before a military court.

The fallen leader of Fascism will not be allowed to hide in a neutral country. It was believed that pressure will be brought to bear on any neutral nation showing any tendency to offer him a haven of refuge.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that "no criminal will be allowed to escape by the expedient of his resignation." This was seen as also serving notice on Adolf Hitler and the Japanese war lords that they too will be brought before the bar of justice if they outlive the war.

Seek To Rescue Entrapped Miners

Pumps Are Operated At Bridgeville Mine In Effort
To Save Six

MINERS CAUGHT BY SUDDEN FLOOD STAGE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 29.—Feeble cries for help from the deep recesses of the federal mine at Bridgeville definitely established today that the six miners imprisoned in the flooded soft coal pit are still alive but obviously in a greatly weakened condition.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 29.—Rescue crews worked in unending relays throughout the night and early today with the newest type pumping apparatus in a desperate effort to save the lives of six miners entombed for 36 hours in the flooded Olet Coal company bituminous mine at Bridgeville.

United States Bureau of Mines engineers said it would be late morning before enough water could be drained from the inundated pit to permit rescuers to float a raft through the tunnel opening of the mine and begin a search for the trapped men in the deep reaches of the shaft.

Lone Hope
The lone hope that the pumping crews might find the coal diggers still alive lay in the existence of a thin space between the surface of the water and the roof of the mine which allowed patches of air to enter the pit intermittently.

Federal officials and state mining experts joined with wives and friends of the imprisoned miners to form a grisly death watch at the entrance to the coal workings.

The half dozen men first descended into the mine midday Tuesday and were unable to rise to the surface yesterday morning at the end of their tour of duty because swirling floor waters all but swept away the mine entrance, blocking all traffic in or out of the pit.

Waters Enter Mine
The swollen waters in the vicinity of Tom's river roared down a hill behind the mine, raced down the mouth of the shaft and reached a level of nine feet in the 10-foot pit. The men had been working a quarter of a mile from the entrance, beyond an upturn in the tunnel, and company officials believe they may possibly have been out of the flooded area.

The company employment rolls listed the men as Henry Rheinlander, fire boss and leader of the tunnel crew; Ceasar, Rusa, Frank Albertini, Peter Carroll, John Bonassi and Albert Long, all of Avella, Washington county.

E. E. Quenon of the Bureau of Mines said that if the men were on the high level when the waters first rushed into the mine, they were safe, for space between the water and the roof provided a vent through which air could be pumped into the shaft.

However, Quenon warned, if the half dozen miners were caught between their normal place of work and the bottom of the pit, they would have no chance of escape.

forces, has sent two Italian army corps to block the road from the Brenner pass, by which the Germans must enter. Other dispatches tell of Italian peace riots and anti-German demonstrations. But the official Rome radio says: "Italy must continue to fight"—presumably as a Nazi ally.

Three Courses Open
There are three possible courses of action open to the Germans. Their decision will be guided by the political and military importance they attach to the Italian peninsula, the force they can spare for an Italian campaign and the real attitude of the Italian government and people.

Hitler and his general staff may decide to throw up the sponge completely and let Italy slide peacefully out of the war. Should the Fuehrer do this his decision would be cheered loudly by the Italians. Also it would be good news to the allies.

The German dictator might decide to hold the northern portion of Italy, behind the valley of the Po river. This would relieve his troops of the need to go out on the limb of the Italian boot, where their communications, depending on the east-line railroads, would be subject to constant raids by the allies from sea and air.

Third possible decision open to Hitler is to hold every foot of Italian soil, making what use he can of Italy's troops and selling each mile of advance as dearly as possible.

Italian Attitude Big Factor
Any one of these decisions might be sound from a military point of view. Or any one of them might prove unsound. In any of them the attitude of the Italian people and government would be decisive.

The Nazis are reported to have about 10 divisions in Italy, perhaps three more in Sicily. The German formations in Sicily, despite their lack of air support, are putting up a tough delaying action. They maintain the same on the Italian mainland.

The Badoglio government and the Italian people can decide the question. If they still go along, even half heartedly, with the Axis, Italy may be an allied nuisance for some time. But if they rise up against the Nazis in their midst, refuse to cooperate, and initiate guerrilla war, they can make German resistance in the Italian peninsula impossible.

PRESIDENT SAYS ALLIES PREPARE GREATER ATTACKS

on "until the Italian people realize the futility of continuing to fight," but held out the promise of a helping hand to them as soon as they capitulate.

Air Superiority
In connection with the Pacific conflict, the president announced that the allies now have superiority in the air over Burma. He also predicted that the Japanese will be unable to support for long their posts in Burma, Siam, the straits settlements, the Dutch East Indies, New Guinea and the Solomons.

However, he warned at the same time that "we are still far from our main objectives in the war against Japan." He said the allied forces in the Pacific are "pushing forward to occupation of positions which in time will enable us to attack the Japanese islands themselves from the north, south, east and west."

The president's announcement of a six-point social security demobilization plan for the armed services was considered one of the most important parts of his address. In some Republican congressional quarters it was viewed as a bid for the political support of the returning soldiers when the war is over.

Proposed Plan
The proposed plan includes mustering out pay to every honorably discharged member of the armed forces and merchant marine; special unemployment insurance; subsidized educational facilities; improved and liberal medical care for disability cases, and "sufficient" pensions.

The president's statement that "ahead of us is much bigger fight" was interpreted in Washington as an appeal to the American people to gird themselves for the more decisive battles of the second world war—battles that will take a far heavier toll in casualties than anything that has happened thus far.

President Roosevelt's remark that the defeat of Hitler and Tojo and their gangs, will be no easy matter, was seen as an effort to curb quickly the spread of any complacent belief in this country that the war is nearly over because of the swift news with which Fascism appears to have collapsed in Italy when the allied armies struck at the "soft under-belly" of Europe.

Authoritative sources said it was because of the conviction that hard days still lie ahead that the president emphasized any complacency of indifference on the part of the home front would sacrifice the lives of American soldiers and contribute to the loss of an important battle.

Meanwhile, Italy had blunt notice from the president that there will be no deal of compromise with the new fascist regime of King Victor Emmanuel and Marshal Pietro Badoglio. The president made it unmistakably clear that unconditional surrender represents the only terms on which Italy can get peace with the United Nations.

"We will have no truck with Fascism in any way, shape or manner," he said. "We will permit no vestige of Fascism to remain."

REPORT ITALY IS SEEKING TO HALT NAZI INVASION

patch from Zurich, are convinced Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio already has entered negotiations seeking an armistice. It is said that a new "liberty movement" in Italy constantly is increasing in strength and already surpasses Badoglio's power.

The Nazis continued to foster the contention that Italy would remain in the Axis fold. Reuter reported a dispatch by official German news agency, DNE, asserting that when Italy's new foreign minister, Raffaele Guariglia, stopped off in Sofia yesterday en route to Rome from Turkey he declared that "Italy will fight not against Fascism but for victory over the common enemy."

A dispatch from the Italian front to the newspaper, Gazzetta del Popolo of Turin, is stating that although Italy could not tolerate enemy occupation if the populace demanded peace the nation would have to accept all conditions imposed.

"Our aim is peace, but the enemy who previously declared he would not treat with Fascism, today is demanding Italy's unconditional surrender," said the newspaper.

"If peace had to be accepted by the new government because the country demanded it at all costs we should have to accept all conditions demanded."

Swiss reports said that "open revolt" has broken out in Milan, Turin and Genoa. Crowds in the three cities are said to be demonstrating constantly for peace and deaths in rioting are reported running into hundreds, according to a dispatch to the London Evening News. Hundreds of Republican labor leaders were reported arrested throughout Italy.

Report Nazis Push In
A dispatch to the Evening Standard said that German troops were pouring through the Brenner Pass and moving southward after earlier reports said Badoglio had dispatched five divisions, supported by artillery, to stem the movement.

A Berne dispatch to Reuters said that a German foreign office spokesman admitted that the Badoglio government might give way to a new regime before the end of the week. Crown Prince Umberto was mentioned as the rallying point for a new regime. Official Italian circles, according to the German, state Badoglio hopes to fight a slowing action against the Allies with large material reserves given by the Germans.

Official London quarters had no knowledge of a report that German and Italian troops already had clashed in northern Italy.

ANTI-FASCIST MANIFESTO
LONDON, July 29.—The Swiss radio reported today that the five main anti-Fascist parties in Italy have issued a new manifesto calling upon the government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio to reassure the people by revealing its aims in the sphere of political and social reconstruction.

burned, broke a leg when he jumped and lay helpless for several hours while fellows sought help.

The two were brought to the Bowling Green City hospital for treatment.

W. H. Lyle, a night policeman at the hospital, said Fellows' face was seared by the flames, that much of his hair had been burned off and that flesh was burned from his hand.

He quoted the lieutenant as saying his hands had been thus seriously injured as he tore frantically at his blazing uniform.

Lyle said physicians expected both men to recover.

Motor Goes Dead
Lt. Fellows said at the hospital that there had been little thought of danger although he realized that unfavorable weather prevailed. The plane for some time, however, had ridden above this only suddenly to plunge into its midst.

One motor went dead, he said, and the pilot, Capt. H. A. Stiller, evidently was seeking a landing place in the hilly, sparsely settled place, when the plane crashed, hit a stump and immediately burst into flames.

The wreckage was scattered about a radius of 200 yards and most of all those killed never were able to escape from the passenger and pilot's compartments.

The plane crashed between 9:30 and 10 o'clock last night but removal of the bodies was not undertaken until daylight because of the remoteness of the scene of the accident and the hilly terrain.

Lt. Fellows, in spite of his burns, set in search of help on foot and did not find it until he had walked several miles. Then, with the assistance of others, he brought Kaufman out to the road and from there the two were brought to Bowling Green.

Among those killed in the crash were Mrs. Lucy Beasley and her small baby of Nashville, Tenn.

Death Toll
The dead as listed by American Airlines in New York were:

Leland Hall, of Cincinnati.
R. D. Anderson, of Detroit.
Mrs. Lucy Beasley, and her baby of Nashville.

Lt. Mark Rainsford, of Dayton.
Lt. Richter, of Nashville.

Eugene Ledengrth, (313 N. Wils. av.) of Nashville.

vided the Italian people from the United Nations has been removed by the Italians themselves.

"The only remaining obstacle on the road to peace is the German aggressor who is still on Italian soil."

Then the American general told the Italians how they might obtain the peace they seek.

"You want peace," he continued. "You can have peace immediately and peace under honorable conditions which our governments have already offered you. We are coming to you as liberators. Your part is to cease immediately any assistance to the German military forces in your country."

"If you do this we will rid you of the Germans and deliver you from the horrors of war as you have already seen in Sicily."

"Our occupation will be mild and beneficial. Your men will return to their normal life and to their productive vocations and provided all British and allied prisoners now in your hands are restored safely to you and not taken away to Germany, the hundreds of thousands of Italian prisoners captured by us in Tunisia and Sicily will return to the countless Italian homes who long for them."

"The ancient liberties and traditions of your country will be restored."

First Pronouncement
Gen. Eisenhower's declaration was the first allied military pronouncement in the wake of Mussolini's fall and based the offer of peace on the implied unconditional surrender terms outlined by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The statement clearly leaves the vital decision of Italy's fate in the hands of the Italian people. The message was aimed to penetrate every corner of Italy and expedite a showdown as soon as possible.

The message was broadcast over powerful stations in English, German and French as well as Italian.

Eisenhower's words were broadcast throughout Europe beginning at noon (North African time) after the people were told for the preceding hour to stand by for a special message from the commander-in-chief to the Italian people.

The same broadcasting stations only a few weeks ago began appeals to the Italian people in the wake of President Roosevelt's call to the Italians to rid themselves of Mussolini. This plea was reinforced with leaflets and how they struck home in Sicily already has been demonstrated. It is believed the same is broadly true of Italy and therefore the Roosevelt and Eisenhower messages are expected to have the deepest effect and spur an anti-Hitler landslide.

David Francis, aged 57, of 309 1/2 Northview avenue, died suddenly with a heart attack Wednesday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock at his home.

Mr. Francis had been in failing health for the past 18 years but had been able to get around.

A resident of this country for about 35 years, Mr. Francis was born May 29, 1886, in Fort Talbot, South Wales, son of Samuel and Louisa Ludwig Francis. He was employed at the Shenango tin mill until his health failed and he retired about 18 years ago.

Survivors are his wife, Harriet Williams Francis; one son, Samuel of Castle Shannon, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. J. V. McClelland of New Castle and Miss Elizabeth Francis of Aliquippa; two grandchildren and two brothers, John of Princeton and Thomas of New Castle.

The body has been removed to the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Rev. T. J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the mortuary this evening from 7 to 9 and Friday afternoon and evening from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 o'clock.

James S. Reid

After a short illness, James S. Reid, aged 77, died Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Marian Grannis, 328 Neshamock avenue.

Mr. Reid, who was born in Clearfield county, had been a resident of New Castle for 23 years. Mr. Reid was secretary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. His wife, Donna Walter Reid, preceded him in death in 1929.

Survivors are one son, Donald S. Reid, one daughter, Mrs. Marian Grannis, both of New Castle, and eight grandchildren.

The body is at the A. Darrell Burke funeral home, 319 North Jefferson street, where friends may call this evening from seven to 9:30 o'clock.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Apollo Smith

Apollo Smith of South Beaver street died Wednesday afternoon at his home.

The body has been removed to the Crunkleton funeral home at West Falls street. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mendus Funeral

Funeral services for Stanley Mendus, 37 Elmwood street, were held this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the residence with requiem high mass being celebrated at 10 o'clock in Madonna church. Rev. Fr. E. Pikuik was the celebrant.

Funeral services were held for John Snieszek, Pet. Cwyny, Andrew Turek, Pete Dudek, Aloys Wojtowicz and Lawrence Smialowski.

Interment was in Madonna cemetery.

Kegalar Funeral Time

Funeral services for Lloyd William Kegalar, R. D. 3, Wilmington road, will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter. Rev. Paul Aley of Wesley Methodist church will officiate. Interment will be in Castle View Burial Park.

The family will receive friends at the mortuary this evening from 7 to 9 and Friday afternoon and evening from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 o'clock.

GERMANS RETREAT FROM ONE SECTOR
ALONG OREL FRONT

from Orelon the Ore-Kursk railroad, was captured.

The Russians are now within 10 miles or less of Orel on three of four railways running into the city. The communique said Russian guerrillas in the Orel area recently killed 1,300 Germans and derailed nine trains.

Seize More Towns

The communique reported seizure of 30 more towns and villages and advances of two and a half to three and a half miles.

Additional localities and a fortified enemy strong point were seized after repulse of a strong German counter-attack east of Orel. The Nazi attack was supported by a tank regiment which had just been transferred to the sector.

More than 1,000 enemy officers and men were wiped out, 11 tanks and five big guns were destroyed and two guns, more than 100 machine-guns and other booty were captured.

Continued Russian progress was reported south of Orel, where the Germans lost 1,500 killed. Eighteen tanks—including three of the vaunted Tiger type—were destroyed in the battle, as well as four mobile guns and four anti-tank guns. In addition, the Soviets captured 15 guns, 18 mortars, stores of munitions and other goods, and many prisoners.

In another sector south of Orel, one village was liberated when a Soviet unit attacked a much larger German detachment which was driven out with heavy losses.

Only scouting activity was reported in the Belgorod area just south of the Orel front. Reconnaissance units captured two heights in the Donets basin after knocking out two enemy tanks and killing 200 Nazis. Seven enemy planes were shot down and three others damaged by Russian airmen over the Donets front and eight others were destroyed by anti-aircraft fire.

EAST COAST RAID IS STILL POSSIBLE

(International News Service)
BOSTON, July 29.—The east coast was warned today by Major General Ralph Royce, commander of the first air force, that an Axis air raid still is possible, "even as Hitler moves toward defeat."

General Royce declared that the fact that the war is going against Hitler may lead him to order an attack to improve German morale.

Captain John Smith was sworn in as a member of the Jamestown council on June 10, 1907.

ROME BOMBING LARGE FACTOR IN MUSSOLINI'S FALL

cited as the first time in the war that a sudden large-scale bombing has so influenced public morale as to bring about an important political change.

Opposition Flares
According to the refugees reaching this border point and bursting with real or fancied versions of the situation that developed, latent opposition flared into the open immediately after the bombing.

"The population no longer held back, but openly expressed its anti-Fascist feeling," one traveler said. "Fascists who appeared in uniform were threatened with violence and called murderers and rogues."

"When King Victor Emmanuel visited the bombed areas, he was greeted with shouts like 'has not enough innocent blood been spilled?' This public reaction must have strengthened the king in his decision to send Mussolini away."

The "Fascist dictator" did not dare to make a public appearance and inspect the bomb damage after his alleged meeting with Adolf Hitler at Verona, it was said, until after a fake air raid alarm had been sounded to clear the streets of civilians.

"Public opinion became more revolutionary every day," the spokesman continued, "and the Fascists began to drop from sight."

The traveler said that on his way north from Rome, anti-Fascist demonstrations occurred in every town and village. There were shouts of "long live liberty," with workers waving Italian flags and tearing down Fascist insignia everywhere.

NEW VITAL LINK IN SICILY TAKEN BY ALLIED FORCES

being poured into Messina bridgehead in the northeast corner of the island for a desperate battle with the converging Allied troops.

Employing Italian Aid
The German command appeared to be supreme and Nazi officers were observed to be employing Italian troops in strengthening fortifications and digging trenches.

The American Seventh Army under command of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton was disclosed to have advanced a distance of 14 miles along a broad 35-mile front in the north along a line stretching from the Tyrrhenian sea coast inland to the southeast.

Moving up from captured Termini to Cefalu, the Yank forces took possession of the inland towns of Polizzi and Collesano. The line now runs from Cefalu, 40 miles east of Palermo, southward through Petralia to Alimena. Alimena is situated 25 miles below Cefalu.

The advance carried the Americans considerably closer to the German positions but Gen. Patton's forces still were too far distant to strike at the Nazi defenses in the north.

Bitter fighting is expected before the Nazis can be ousted since the rugged terrain along what now is known as the Etna line is favorable to the defenders. The line sweeps in an arc from a point south of Catania on the east coast northward around Mount Etna to the vicinity of San Stefano on the north coast.

JAP DESTROYER BADLY DAMAGED

ton vessel, was hit during the course of a raid by heavy bombers on the enemy base at Manokwari, in Dutch New Guinea, whose waterfront was heavily attacked.

The New Britain air battle developed as medium bombers heavily bombed and strafed a Jap base near Rein Bay. While the outnumbered Allied fighter planes tore into the intercepting Zeros, the bombers destroyed seven barges, launched and scored hits on inland fuel dumps, causing violent explosions and fires which sent up towering columns of smoke.

Shoot Down Zeros
The nine Allied fighters, in addition to shooting down six of the 15 Zeros, also probably destroyed two more.

At least three Jap barges were destroyed and three others damaged by medium bombers which carried out a low-level sweep on enemy barge hideouts along the Huon peninsula coast of New Guinea from Pommern bay to Finschhafen. In addition, eight enemy-occupied coastal villages along the barge route were strafed resulting in many fires.

Four more barges were wrecked during the night off Point Mange, New Guinea, by light naval forces, probably speedy P-T boats.

Similar Allied craft destroyed two of four enemy barges intercepted during the night in Blackett Strait off Kolombangara island in the Solomons. These barges probably were attempting to run supplies to the Jap garrison at Munda.

COL. GENTZKOW TO VISIT HERE

Col. E. J. Gentzkow, commandant of the Deshon General hospital, will visit New Castle this afternoon for a short time and expects to meet some of the committee in charge of the boxing tournament which will be held for the benefit of the hospital on Friday night.

At 5:05 he will broadcast from Station WKST, outlining the work of the hospital and its needs.

In occupied Norway the disease rate increased more than 70 per cent from January, 1942, to January, 1943.

IT TURNED A MAN'S MIND

Of all the gossams in stones to come out of South Africa, The Stewart is perhaps the most famous diamond. The rough diamond, weighing 296 carats, was found at Waldeck's plant on the Vaal River in 1872. The finder went out of his mind for three days, and could do nothing but laugh and cry, tossing the stone up in the air and catching it again like a child. It was reduced to a beautiful brilliant of 123 carats, and is now owned in England.

Dayton Talks About Food And War Situation

Extension Representative Outlines Situation Confronting Nation

Lewis C. Dayton, extension representative of the Lawrence Agricultural Extension Association, gave an interesting talk to members of the New Castle Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon meeting in the Castleton, Wednesday. Mr. Dayton discussed the food situation in relation to the war, and explained why there were shortages and need for rationing.

Although the people of this country will probably not have as wide a variety of foods to select from as last winter, they will be well fed, he asserted.

The farmers have been up against a serious situation. There has been a great shortage of farm machinery, due to the fact that too drastic a cut was ordered in farm machinery production. This came on the heels of the depression when many farmers were unable to buy new machinery, and find themselves now with worn-out equipment. The situation was remedied to a certain extent this year, and will be better next year, he asserted.

There has been a shortage of feed for livestock due to many causes, one of which was the fact that the price ceiling on corn was placed too low, and farmers in the midwest could make more by feeding their corn to their own hogs and cattle.

Production will be down this year due to unfavorable weather, shortage of farm labor, inadequate equipment, shortage of feed and means that every bit of food produced by victory gardeners will go a long way in helping to relieve the situation.

Farm labor and industrial wages prevailing in 1914 were compared with those of today, and gave an explanation of why many farmers have left the farms for industries. In 1914, the average paid farm labor for a 70 hour week was $22 per month plus board. The average industrial wage was $41. In 1943, the average farm wage was $44.50 per month with a 32 1/2 hour week while industry was paying $133.50 for 42 1/2 hour week.

Corp. Technician Thomas Green was a special guest of the club.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Auxiliary firemen of the Park avenue fire station held an important meeting last night with John F. Haven as chairman. Arrangements were made to procure a pumper which will be placed at the fire department and practice drills will start sometime in the near future. On Saturday August 14, a special meeting and corn roast will be held. Precincts One and Three of the Sixth ward will hold a gas instruction and gas mask drill at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Sixth ward fire department. Any person who has missed such a class in any precinct is invited to participate in the Sixth ward meeting.

Messengers not 15 years old will not receive helmets. There is enough for wardens here.

Frank Sargent, coordinator for the OCD has received word from Russell Melvin, auxiliary police force that the A. P. has purchased tickets for the Deshon benefit Friday night at Taggart field and Sargent would like to see other branches of the OCD well represented at the Stadium.

HARRY REESE ACCEPTS OFFER TO BE JUDGE

Harry Reese, general superintendent of motive power for the Central region, B. & O. railroad with headquarters in Pittsburgh, will be one of the boxing judges Friday night at Taggart field.

The announcement was made today, Ed. Fritz, chairman of the ring committee having received word that Reese had so arranged his affairs that he could help officiate.

Reese or "Harry" as he is familiarly known was a sterling amateur boxer years ago.

He always has been a devotee of athletics and it was pleasing to the committee staging the Deshon Army hospital benefit to learn that the railroad executive could arrange his affairs to help the benefit. He has two sons in service.

When stationed here Reese was roundhouse foreman and later master mechanic.

GIRL CUTS FINGER

Bessie Fraley, of R. F. D. No. 3, West Fairmont avenue, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, for a laceration of the second finger of the left hand. She was cutting weeds with a sickle, when she sustained the injury.

Eggplant is very tender, as are peppers and tomatoes, and a watchful eye should be kept on them if they are placed in the ground before all danger of a late frost is past.

Penn State Wartime Extension Program To Open Office Here

Reorganization Will Help Meet Increased Need For War Training Locally

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 29.—To provide more equal distribution of its off-campus wartime program, the central extension services of the Pennsylvania State College has reorganized its district offices, Stanley H. Campbell, supervisor of the district representatives division, announced today.

Nineteen district offices have been established to replace the previous six major districts and the five sub-district offices. The reorganization, Mr. Campbell said, will help meet expanding state-wide needs of the extension work, including the government-sponsored engineering, science and management war training program—largest in the nation.

Offices have been established to serve eight new districts—Bethlehem, DuBois, Oil City, Greensburg, Carnegie, Uniontown, New Castle and New Kensington. Five former sub-officers made district officers are Reading, Scranton, Harrisburg, Williamsport and York.

The new offices will be headed by 19 district representatives working under an area supervisor. The representative for the New Castle office is Conrad C. Spangler.

Make First Arrests Under Anti-Strike Bill In Pittsburgh

Six Alleged Instigators Of Soft Coal Strikes Taken Into Custody

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—The first arrests under the new Smith-Conally anti-strike law were made Wednesday when United States marshals took into custody six of the 30 members of the United Mine workers of America under indictment for allegedly starting strikes in western Pennsylvania's bituminous coal fields.

The men, all employed at the Bridgeport mine of the H. C. Frick Coal and Coke company, were placed in the Allegheny county jail after going through a process of fingerprinting and recording.

They were Thomas Maskevich, local president; August Maskevich, committeeman; Daniel Hall, union member; Charles Adey, member; Kendall Young, member, and Joseph Carpeal, committeeman.

Federal Judge E. P. Schoonmaker previously fixed bond at $1,000 each, but none of the miners was able to furnish the money immediately.

United States attorneys here indicated the apprehension of the remaining 24 union officials and members will be speeded up, preparing the way for a September trial.

The half dozen miners taken are subject to one-year prison terms plus fines ranging up to $5,000 if convicted of instigating and aiding strikes at government-seized operations such as the soft coal mines.

Pre-Conference Of Missionaries Starts August 4

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, July 29.—Instead of remaining for a missionary post-conference as they have done in past years, approximately 60 missionaries and members of the women's and foreign boards of the United Presbyterian church will hold a missionary pre-conference this year, starting Wednesday morning, August 4.

Holding their meetings in the local United Presbyterian church the group will draw up policies and plans for the entire foreign missionary program of 1944.

Two days later, August 6, the 38th annual New Wilmington Conference will get underway. Leaders and speakers for the conference will arrive on the campus by next Thursday while the delegates will move in the following day.

With the army coming in August 9, Browne Hall will not be available for the girls who are to attend the conference. Jeffers Hall, Ferguson Hall and the campus lodges will be used instead.

GROVE CITY, July 29.—Loud cheers heard in this community over Mussolini's retirement come from three natives of Sicily, two of whom have sons with the U. S. Army in training in this country.

A. T. Marguillo, with two sons in service, one as a flying officer, was born at Palermo, leaving Sicily at the age of 16. James Cicero, who has two sons in the U. S. Army, is a native of Castelbuono, Sicily, and Peter Errera, who served in the Italian army with the Allies in World War I, is a native of Messina. All three hope and believe that Mussolini's "abdication" heralds the early withdrawal of Italy from the Axis.

Disclaim Blame In Pittsburgh's Blackout Chaos

Army, Local, State, National
OCD Wash Hands Of Costly
Coincidence

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 29. — The army and local, state and national OCD officials today disclaimed all responsibility for the vast confusion attending Tuesday's air raid alert which came in the midst of one of the severest electrical and rain storms ever to lash the Pittsburgh district.
Disclosing that they had no prior notice Tuesday afternoon of the impending blackout drill, local officials answered criticism concerning the obvious untimeliness of the test by claiming the "blackout" was beyond their control and nothing they could have done would have stopped it.
Confusion of signals was but a minor error in this latest Pittsburgh civilian defense rehearsal. A far more serious situation existed in the opinion of the state residents here, than during any previous test.
This time, it was pointed out, the city was faced with a serious and widespread civilian emergency. Large sections of the city were flooded, homes darkened and hundreds of persons marooned.
In the midst of rescuing persons trapped by the waters and storm the city suddenly had to turn its already harassed attention to the holding of an air raid blackout test, and the people didn't like it one bit, it was generally agreed.

Scout Troop Nine Assists Farmer

Union Township Youths Break
Camp And Help With Threshing

Boy Scout Troop No. 9, of Union township, did a little more than their good turn yesterday when they assisted a North Beaver township farmer to thresh his wheat.
The boys, under Scoutmaster J. Arthur Turek, had been camping in North Beaver township, and were just breaking camp when they got the word that the farmer was desperately in need of help.
The scoutmaster and three of the older boys, Lawrence and Louis Rotundo, and James Bigley, did the bulk of the heavy work, with the younger ones, assisting in minor tasks, earning the gratitude of the farmer. He offered to pay them for their assistance, but they passed it off as their daily good turn, refusing to accept compensation.

EXTRA WAR NEWS SCOOP INVASION OF SICILY

The most amazing armada of all time assembles off the shores of Africa for the invasion of Sicily. As the tremendous fleets move out into the Mediterranean, Allied leaders under the immediate direction of Lt. General Patton and Admiral Hewitt, reveal detailed plans of the undertaking to their troops.

When the unprecedented naval group of 3,000 vessels sights Sicily, their huge naval guns blaze into pulverizing action. As the smoke screens spread their cover, the landing barges speed in and the Allied troops pour into Sicily.

Stabile Refuse Bureau Head For Pittsburgh Now

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 29.—John T. Stabile, a parking lot operator, today was the new managing engineer of the Pittsburgh Refuse Bureau, replacing the ousted D. C. Agar.
Stabile was appointed to the $5,000-a-year post by Works Director Frank M. Roessing shortly after Agar was fired for allegedly "locking out" city employees at the Refuse Collection Department.
Mayor Cornelius D. Scully praised Stabile's appointment by saying "I think Roessing has found a capable man."
Stabile, a resident of suburban Mt. Lebanon, is president of the Downtown Parking Association and operates several important automobile lots in the city.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste
If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be over-worked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FARMS AND FARMERS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

By Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent

CONTROL RATS AND SAVE VALUABLE FEED

Losses caused by rats have become so common that often they are considered an unavoidable part of farm life. Control of these pests is not only possible but is imperative to save the feed they eat every year.

Rats feed abundantly on growing and stored feeds. A single rat eats 50 pounds of feed each year and in hunting for the kind of meal it wants may cause the waste of 100 pounds more.

Since it is estimated that the rat population averages two rats for every person living on a farm, the loss in feed alone may easily reach one ton a year on some farms. If each farm in Pennsylvania supports only 10 rats, the total rat population of the state can destroy 127,615 tons of feed annually.

On the same basis, the loss for Lawrence County would be 1,300 tons.

This loss can be prevented by rat-proofing the premises, poisoning, gassing, or trapping the stray rats after a real clean-up has been made. Rat control is not difficult if the feed that attracts the rats is kept away from them. It will give important returns in lowered feed bills at a relatively small cost to the farmer.

HARVEST ALL AVAILABLE LEGUME SEED THIS YEAR

Lawrence County farmers can make no seedling for hay next spring unless they have seed. Present prospects are that seed, especially well-adapted seed, may be mighty scarce and even higher priced than it is now since there was little such seed left over this spring.

In all the effort to produce feed for more livestock and to grow other needed crops, the legume seed crop is likely to be forgotten until it is too late.

Before one prepares for an August seeding of alfalfa, he had best make sure of getting the seed. Clover and alfalfa seed cannot be imported now, except perhaps some alfalfa from Argentina and a little from Canada. The South American alfalfa lacks the winter hardiness needed in Pennsylvania, according to J. B. R. Dickey, in charge of agronomy extension for the Pennsylvania State College. Instead of importing, he says, American farmers now are expected to export clover and alfalfa seed to England and Russia.

One of the best ways for farmers to meet the situation is to plan to harvest enough seed for home use and as much more as possible for sale. Red clover seed in profitable amounts can be produced anywhere in the state, if there is a good second crop, sunny weather when it is in bloom, and not too much rain during harvest. Crops of a bushel an acre are profitable at present prices, and crops of 2 to 3 bushels are not unusual.

In some years several thousand acres of alfalfa seed have been harvested in Pennsylvania, while in Ohio alfalfa seed occasionally has been harvested from 75,000 acres. Old, rather than stands of alfalfa are most likely to make the best seed crop. Weather so dry that the second crop of clover or alfalfa is too short to make much hay is just the condition favorable for a good set of seed. Sometimes seed is harvested from the third crop of alfalfa or from the new seeding of clover.

The combine has made harvesting of clover and alfalfa seed easier and cheaper. Often it is done by custom combine operators who take half the crop for pay. The crop must be ripe and dry if it is to be thrashed without previous cutting and curing. Seldom can a good job be done with the combine before noon because of dampness. Many operators run the tractor too fast, choke the riddles and screens, and fail to shake out half of the seed.

Where the clover or alfalfa hay crop cannot be spared but promises to make a good set of seed, it can be cut late, after the seed is well developed, and thrashed in the barn. Late-cut hay is not so good as early-cut but still may make fair feed for some purposes.

Dickey emphasizes that unless there is a large acreage of these seeds harvested this year or a much better than average crop there simply will not be enough to go around next spring. To be unable to sow a legume for hay will be serious, and no farmer will want to be caught in that position.

PREVENT BARN FIRES AND PROPERTY LOSSES

At this time of the year barn fires are likely to be numerous. Two main causes, hot hay and lightning, are responsible for about three-quarters of the losses.

Good lightning rods, connected to the hay track, if it is made of steel, and grounded metal roofs, take care of the lightning hazard. The barn usually is the largest building and most likely to be hit. Silos complicate the layout. Each should have its own point and an independent ground conductor. In addition, the same point should be connected to the system on the barn so that there will be two paths to earth. A mimeograph on grounding metal roofs and Farmers' Bulletin 1512, "Lightning Protection," may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Hay heats when it is put up too green or allowed to pack under the hay fork. Good curing and moving away eliminate the danger of heating, according to J. R. Haswell, extension agricultural engineer of the Pennsylvania State College. A hay chute may be used in moving away the hay in high barns.

The old idea of taking temperatures two feet down, with a thermometer set in a groove in a broom stick, has been shown to be wrong. The hot spot may be much deeper in the mow. The best way to take temperatures is through a small water pipe pushed down into the mow under the place showing the most moisture on the surface. The pipe should be supported on a board because a cavity may be formed in the hot hay. Do not remove the pipes until the hay cools down.

If the thermometer goes to 158 degrees Fahrenheit, all ventilation should be stopped because the mow may burst into flame if air gets to the hot portion. Ventilation helps to remove the heat up to this point. If the hay reaches a temperature of 195 degrees Fahrenheit, it is advisable to call a fire engine or have an orchard sprayer with a full tank of water in attendance before starting to remove the hay.

It is not necessary to wet down the entire mow, since this results in the loss of all the hay. Often a spot 10 or 20 feet across is all that has to be taken out. A forkful may burst into flames when the air hits it.

Hot spots have been cooled off in hay mows by blowing in carbon dioxide from a soda fountain gas drum. Dry ice is the same thing but it is harder to get to the right place. Neither of these will remove the necessary of digging out the spoiled hay but may prevent further heating during the operation and thus save the barn.

A little care in taking temperatures will prevent many losses and if the critical points of 158 degrees Fahrenheit for ventilation and 195 degrees Fahrenheit for removal are observed, many hay mows will provide feed for livestock and food for freedom instead of resulting in serious setbacks to the farmers.

STILL TIME TO PLANT SOME FALL VEGETABLES

There still is time to plant some vegetables and keep all space in the garden working.

Of the root crops, beets, carrots, and turnips should be planted immediately. Radishes may be sown throughout August.

Leafy crops, including Chinese cabbage, endive and kale should be planted at once. Lettuce and spinach may be sown all through the month of August.

Snap beans are the only seed crop which still has time to make a crop if planted now.

For transplanting, celery is the only possibility. The plants must be good and, of course, the growth will not be large.

SOW COVER CROPS IN RASPBERRY PLANTING

Berry production next year will depend very largely on the vigor and maturity of the canes grown this season.

Soon after harvest, the old canes which have just finished bearing should be cut off close to the ground and removed. This will eliminate crowding and sand shading of the young canes which will grow better as a result.

Plant a cover crop soon after harvest to add organic matter, retard erosion, and encourage early maturity, thus reducing losses from winter-killing. Apply manure next spring.

Millet and sudan grass have been most widely used as cover crops for raspberries. Both are killed by frost and hence are not difficult to eradicate from the rows. Domestic ryegrass also makes an excellent cover, but the seed must be kept out of the rows to avoid the problem of digging out the grass by hand in the spring.

A thorough but shallow cultivation after the removal of the old canes is advisable. Superphosphate at the rate of 200 pounds or more an acre will encourage a good growth of cover. High-nitrogen fertilizer or manure applied at this time may encourage late growth and immaturity of the canes resulting in winter-killing.

WAR-TIME CANNING

Canning under present conditions with restricted supplies requires that we give this problem more thought says Mrs. Fred L. Taylor, home economics extension representative of Lawrence County.

On Thursday, July 15, the Penna. Power Company advertised in The News a warning to home canners not to use the new jar rings even canning. They stated that some of the war-built canning supplies are not safe for use with this method of processing canned foods.

It is a wise homemaker who reads carefully the instructions given by the manufacturer whose product she is using. Methods of manufacture of jars and covers have had to be altered because of lack of usual supplies so we homemakers must follow directions more carefully than ever before to avoid accidents and also be sure that the food canned will not spoil.

New types of jar covers are appearing on the market. The old ones to which we are accustomed will disappear as soon as the pre-war supply is depleted.

At present we can purchase at some stores the original mason jar which has a one-piece screw top with porcelain or lacquered metal lining. The porcelain tops is difficult to clean. This cover can be used repeatedly unless the porcelain loosens or breaks. The cover is screwed down on to a rubber on the jar neck. Opening the jar by prying up the cover may dent the cover enough to prevent a perfect seal the next time the jar is used.

A two-piece glass and metal cover will be used on many jars. This cover has a small sized rubber that is placed on the glass top, not on the neck of the jar. This glass top is held in place with a metal screw band. When the jars have cooled for 12 hours the band is removed to prevent it from rusting.

The lightning type jar has a glass cover that fits down on a rubber ring placed on the neck of the jar. The cover is held in place by two wire clamps or balls.

The two-piece metal cover with the composition rubber attached is another type. This jar seals automatically as it cools. The cover is lacquered metal with a composition rubber band. This cover or cap is held in place with a metal screw band or clamp can be used many times. The screw band should be removed when the jars are cold—about 12 to 24 hours.

New rubbers should be used each time because of high temperature required for processing. The long period of processing causes the rubber to deteriorate.

Simply wash thoroughly the war-time rubbers and place on the jar. Do not stretch them as they will not go back to original size. The new rubbers meet the specifications put out by the Bureau of Home Economics but the rubbers must be used carefully. Remember, do not stretch and use them only once. The jar covers must be used according to directions given by the manufacturer.

Our Victory Gardens are producing foods for present use and canning. It's our job as homemakers to observe canning suggestions and can all we can.

If you do not have a copy of our Circular No. 238 "Canning Fruits and Vegetables at Home" it may be obtained at Room 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Cut-Throat Barber Shop Competition Of Old Remembered

Low Prices, Long Hours At Turn Of Century Gave Barber No Rest

(International News Service)
BROWNSVILLE, Pa., July 28.—"Shave and a haircut—two bits," but there must have been some awful cut-throat competition when that jingle was written for musical accompaniment.

Barbers in Brownsville with barbers all over the country are "enjoying" boom prices for their snipping and shearing, but they can remember more painfully than their patrons when prices were decidedly lower.

Other changes, many others, too have occurred in the tonsorial trade as several local barbers recalled recently. Frank Marnell, a barber for 35 years doesn't yell about long working hours now, because he remembers when "we used to work until midnight Saturday and sometimes open up on Sunday morning and work until noon."

In the latter part of the 19th century and even the beginning of the present century every man with any means whatsoever had his own shaving mug with his name on it up on the barber's shelf with the rest of the gang's.

The poor barber didn't have a chance to go home to his wife and kids, once the "gang" or maybe just the quartet started singing. He might just as well join in with the rest because the harmonizing sometimes went on for hours.

Shampoo and massages were common orders from the slickers in grandpa's day, but shop owners now consider themselves lucky if he does one shampoo a week with massages even less common. Also missing now from the barber's patrons are the bewhiskered and mustachioed gentlemen who meant a great deal of business to those early day barbers.

VICTORY GARDENER CAN'T HAVE BUNNIES AND VEGETABLES TOO

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 29.—George Brown of Youngstown had been complaining to his visitor how much trouble the rabbits had caused him in chewing off tomato tops, and eating the beets and carrots. Williams couldn't quite understand it but when Brown showed him a rabbit's nest with five young ones nestled among the bean plants. "You let them live here?" Williams asked in surprise, "when they eat up your vegetables."

Brown admitted rather shamefacedly that after a family pow-wow it was decided to let the little rabbits live.

"Call upon Me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify Me."—Psalm 50:15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Aug. 1 is Exodus 5:12, The Golden Text being Psalm 50:15, "Call upon Me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify Me.")

Moses and Aaron, brothers and sons of Levi, were chosen by the Lord to lead their people out of Egypt into Canaan, the land "flowing with milk and honey", which had been promised them.

These two went to Pharaoh and begged that they be allowed to lead the Israelites into the desert for the days that they might worship their Lord and offer sacrifices to Him. Pharaoh's answer was: "Who is the Lord that I should obey His voice to let Israel go?" He not only would not let them go, but declared he would see that the straw that had heretofore been given them to make bricks was taken away, and they were made to get their own straw. More than that, if they did not make the same number of bricks as before they were to be brutally beaten. They were idle, he insisted.

The leaders of the Israelites went to Moses and Aaron and told them about the straw and beatings, and insisted their interference might mean death to their people.

Moses Pleads for His People

Moses went to the Lord and pleaded for his people, and the Lord told him, "Now shalt thou see what I will do to Pharaoh: for with a strong hand shall he let them go, and with a strong hand shall he drive them out of his land."

When Moses, thus encouraged, appeared again before Pharaoh, with Aaron, to prove that he indeed spoke with authority, Aaron threw his rod on the ground and it became a serpent. However, Pharaoh's magicians did likewise, so the miracle did not so much impress Pharaoh, even though Aaron's serpent swallowed the others. He still would not let the people go.

The third time the two leaders went to Pharaoh and threatened to turn the waters of the Nile into blood if he did not let them go. He refused, and so it came about that the water everywhere was changed to blood and there was none to drink. The fish in the river died, and the river smelled terrible. Pharaoh's magicians also did this, and so he still refused. After seven days the water returned to its natural state.

The next plague with which the Lord afflicted the Egyptians was frogs. They were sent to swarm over and into everything. The magicians performed this miracle, too, but Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron and asked that they plead with the Lord to remove the frogs and he would let the Israelites go. When the Lord, at Moses' request, removed the frogs, Pharaoh's heart again hardened.

The plague of lice created out of the dust at the smiting of Aaron's rod, was next. The magicians could not duplicate this one, and frightened, said, "This is the finger of God." But Pharaoh's heart was hardened and he paid no attention to them.

The Plague of Flies

The Lord then told Moses to get up very early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh as he went to the water, and tell him if he did not let the Hebrews go he would bring a plague of flies, which he did when Pharaoh refused. There were no flies in Goshen, however, where the Jews had their homes. This time Pharaoh said he would let them sacrifice to their Lord right there in Egypt, but Moses and Aaron said if they did the people would be stoned by the Egyptians, so refused to do so.

Then followed the murrain which killed cattle, horses and camels, and boils which afflicted men. Pharaoh's heart was still hardened, although he knew the Israelites were spared these plagues. The plague of hail came next, hail and fire which ran along the ground and killed man, beast and growing things. Still Pharaoh would not yield, and the next plague was a swarm of locusts, which devoured every living thing the hail had left. Pharaoh was shaken and confessed that he sinned, but as soon as the plague was withdrawn he again refused.

A thick darkness then fell on the land for three days except in the houses of the Jews. Pharaoh told them they could go to sacrifice but could not take their cattle with them, and Moses refused this. Pharaoh told Moses he never wanted to see him again, and Moses answered, "Thou has spoken well, I will see thy face no more."

The last and worst of all the plagues was the death of the first-born of every Egyptian, from the Pharaoh's son to the child of the least of the peasants. The Jews were commanded to kill a lamb in every house, take its blood and sprinkle the posts and lintels of their homes, so the angel of death would pass them over. This deliverance was memorialized every year to this very day.

Calling Moses and Aaron by night, Pharaoh ordered them to go forth, and with them all their possessions. So commenced the great pilgrimage of the Israelites to their promised land.

Promotions Made By United Engineering

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—The election of K. C. Gardner as executive vice president and general manager of United Engineering and Foundry Company was announced yesterday by George T. Ladd, president. Previously he was vice president and general manager.

At the same time, Mr. Ladd announced the election of Geoffrey G. Beard as vice president in charge of sales engineering. He had been sales engineer. John L. Young was named manager of industrial research.

SPECIAL SESSION PLANS NOW APPEAR TO BE ABANDONED
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 29.—Legislative leaders have virtually abandoned tentative proposals to convene a special session of the general assembly to remedy wartime problems. Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, disclosed today. He was supported by the Speaker of the House Ira T. Fiss and Senate President Pro Tempore Charles H. Ealy. Fiss emphasized that the so-called war powers bill coupled with a balanced budget made it unnecessary to summon assemblymen to the capital before the regular session in 1945 while Ealy cautiously conditioned his prediction upon the current status of state finances.

CAN TOMATOES FOR VITAMIN "C" IN WINTER MEALS

Can tomatoes this year if you have nothing else. Tomatoes march hand in hand with the citrus fruits, for tomatoes are a good vitamin C standby. Tomatoes contain enough acid to be rich in vitamin C even after they are cooked or canned. Because tomatoes are an acid food, they are one of the easiest vegetables to can. The recommended method of canning is the boiling water bath.

An easy way to prepare tomatoes for canning is to blanch the tomatoes so the skins slip off readily. Blanching is done by plunging the tomatoes—not more than 12 at one time—in a large kettle of boiling water, leaving them there a half minute or until the skins will slip off, then dipping in cold water. The tomatoes may be put in a cheesecloth for ease in handling during blanching.

Have jars clean and ready for packing. Put one teaspoon of salt in each quart or a half teaspoon in each pint. As you peel the tomatoes, pack them into the jars. Cut the tomatoes into sections of necessary and crush as you pack them to give juice to fill the jar and take out all the air bubbles. Fill each jar with tomatoes and juice to within a half inch from the top. Adjust rubber and lid and seal according to type of cover used, partially sealing covers with composition rubber ring flowed on. As you fill and seal each jar, put it into the water bath. See that the jars are covered by at least one inch of water.

The time for processing in the boiling water bath is 30 minutes for pints and 35 minutes for quarts. Start to count the time when the water is at a good rolling boil and keep the water boiling throughout the 30 or 35 minutes.

At the end of the processing period, remove jars at once from the container and complete seal where necessary. Sand jars in an upright position, to cool, and then cold store in a dark, dry, cool place. Tomatoes prepared and packed in this way are suitable to serve as a vegetable, in casserole dishes, in soups, or strained for tomato juice. The preceding method of canning may be varied by putting the peeled tomatoes into a large kettle, pre-cooking until tender, then packing into jars. Add salt to each jar and seal as suggested in the above method. Process in boiling water bath 5 minutes.

For salad tomatoes, select ripe perfect tomatoes that are just large enough to fit into a quart jar. Wash, but do not core or peel, pack tightly into a jar but do not crush or break in any way. Add one teaspoon of salt to each quart jar, fill with hot tomato juice to within a half inch from the top, cover jars and seal. Process in boiling water bath 35 minutes. Tomatoes may also be canned as juice. Cut peeled tomatoes in sections, heat until soft enough to put through a sieve. Let cool before straining, then bring juice to a boil and fill jars to within a quarter inch from the top. Cover jars, seal, and process in boiling water bath 10 minutes for pint jars and 15 minutes for quarts.

During the growing season keep a daily watch for the appearance of insect pests. Do not wait until the plants are heavily infested with these enemies before beginning dusting or spraying attacks against them.

No larger than a sparrow is the elf owl.

Workers Sleep Disturbed By Too Much Noise Here

We don't have any Storm Troopers in New Castle because we are supposed to be civilized enough not to need them. Peace and quiet are taken for granted by citizens of a democracy who know how to live together without the threat of a club over their heads.

In wartime, when working hours are longer and harder, peace and quiet is not only desirable, it is an absolutely necessary thing—quiet during sleeping hours is as vital to working people as food is when the time comes for eating.

Too Much Noise
Complaints that noise interrupts the sleep of workers here in New Castle—not just occasionally, but every night—are heard on every side. From all sections of town come disheartening indications that many citizens do not realize that New Castle is doing a big war job and that the people working on that job need sleep.

One man in particular, who does know there is a war on, works from 12 to 18 hours a day. He feels entitled to sleep for a certain number of hours so that he will be able to turn out the goods to beat the Axis again the next day.

You can't blame him.
He isn't asking for a pay raise or a bonus or anything too unreasonable in return for working long and hard and giving up practically all of his leisure time. He only asks for quiet when he sleeps.

Noisy Boys And Girls
The kinds of noises that keep him, and many others, awake are: Teen-aged youngsters shouting in the street, long series of blasts from automobile horns and blaring radios and phonographs from homes. If children aren't old enough to know they should be quiet after, say, 9 p. m., their parents are.

We are supposed to be older than 16 if we are driving a car which has a horn to blow. And even if we are over 16 and don't care a hoot whether other people are trying to sleep, we should know by now that there is a war on.

Radios, too, are usually under adult control. It is hoped that persons putting full steam on the volume with all the windows and doors open on hot nights, just haven't realized that, as far as the man tossing on his bed next door is concerned, it is just like being in the same room with the radio.

We don't have Storm Troopers to silence saboteurs of sleep, and we never will, if we succeed in blasting Hitler off the map. The day to shout and blow and blare will be the day our troops march into Berlin.

End Of Fascist Collaboration Is Loss To Germany

(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, July 29.—An official spokesman for the German foreign office was quoted today in a dispatch from Berlin as declaring that Italian Fascism has been "played out."

The correspondent of the newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported from the German capital that the end of collaboration between Hitler and Mussolini means a great loss to the Reich.

Evidence that Fascism has fallen in Italy was seen in Berlin when Italian journalists showed up at a new conference minus their Fascist insignia.

Berlin quarters admitted that stormy events took place throughout Italy Sunday night and Monday but asserted that all is now quiet in Rome.

The military government of Italy was said to be maintaining order under a firm hand and it was reported that every important public square was guarded by soldiers and police armed with guns and in some instance having tanks.

Berlin admittedly was without any more knowledge of the whereabouts of Mussolini as the rest of the world following his overthrow.

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich quoted "reliable sources" as stating Mussolini is at his country house near Rome under strong guard but still in communication with Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

Cache Coffee With Coffin In Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 29.—An anonymous telephone call resulted today in the questioning of the Salerno brothers, Frank and Louis, undertakers.

The unidentified informant told police they might find something of interest at a certain address. They were somewhat mystified when, on investigation, they found it was the undertaking establishment.

The policemen prowled about the place without discovering anything amiss until they reached a rear room. There, beside a coffin, were stacked neatly 152 cases of coffee.

The Salerno brothers protested they couldn't imagine how in the world the coffee got there.

Police said the coffee had been hi-jacked and that the thieves possibly had cached their loot in the strange hiding place unknown to the brothers.

NEW PROMISE OF MORE GAS IN EASTERN AREA

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Government petroleum officials today predicted that the east coast pleasure driving ban would soon be lifted, although President Roosevelt emphasized the great importance American gasoline shipments are playing in the global war.

This forecast was based on Petroleum Administrator Ickes' optimistic statement promising "a somewhat larger supply of gasoline for civilian use in the east."

The final say in the matter rests with War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes who is making an investigation of the petroleum situation. But the Byrnes probe, expected to be completed within "a week or two," obviously is being based on statistics of oil production and transportation supplied by Ickes petroleum administration and the interior department bureau of mines.

Thus, Washington officials reason, if the facts warrant an optimistic petroleum outlook for Ickes, they must likewise make for an optimistic view by Byrnes in his report.

O.P.A. officials have cautioned, however, that the lifting of the east coast pleasure driving ban, or the extent to which it can be eased, will depend upon the amount of additional gasoline to be allotted for civilian consumption on the Atlantic seaboard and other areas east of the Rocky Mountains.

Reveal Pittsburgh Post-War Airport Accommodation Plans

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—An ultra modern $10,000,000 airport with accommodations for a post-war fleet of passenger and freight sky giants, as well as helicopter shuttle service, was assured today for the Pittsburgh industrial district by Allegheny county commissioners.

The commissioners, in revealing some of the hitherto secret plans for Allegheny county's link in the world-wide airway program, stated that more than $5,000,000 already has been spent on the 1,128-acre site in Moon township. The huge landing field with three one-mile long runways which can be extended several more thousand feet and the ground lighting system will be completed in October, it was stated.

Plans are now under consideration for the system of buildings, control tower, hangars and equipment, and for a new $2,000,000 highway connection. A $1,000,000 administration building, workshops, radio and blind landing equipment and other installations will remain military secrets, Commissioner Chairman John J. Kane stated.

Shoot Down Japs
In Air Battle Over
Hainan Province

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, July 27 (Delayed).—In a blazing, 50-minute sky battle, unescorted Liberator bombers today shot down 13 Zeros and probably destroyed four more as the giant American planes simultaneously sank an enemy freighter and severely damaged two more in Hainan Bay, Hainan province.

The total cost to the Liberator force was slight damage to several of the bombers and superficial injuries to two fliers.

About 30 fighter planes of the Japanese air arm attacked the Liberators, some diving within 20 feet of the big bombers as the latter carried out a low-level attack on an enemy shipping convoy in thick weather. The raid was the first in Hainan since May 4.

The best bag of Zeros was scored by the crew flying with Lieut. Frederick McNeeland of Bridge-water, Mass. His crew shot down four enemy fighters.

One member of McNeeland's crew, Sgt. Phil Reeder of LaPorte, Ind., a former schoolteacher, said: "I saw a Zero for the first time today—and I shot it down, too. They were coming at us so thick and fast I couldn't help getting one."

"The one I got went down in flames."

The Zeros dodged in and out of the Liberator formation, taking daring chances, but superb American gunnery took a heavy toll of the enemy. This same outfit shot down 21 Zeros over Ichang late in May.

Gunnery who downed a Zero apiece included: Donald Schell of Temple, Pa.

Equalization Of Gas Rationing
Now Forecast

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Petroleum Administrator Ickes today forecast further gasoline and oil restrictions in the mid-west and southwest areas of the nation which will ease shortages in the 13 east coast states.

Ickes predicted that "equalization of gasoline rationing between the east coast and the mid-western and southwestern states will take place within a few weeks."

The oil czar refused direct comment on lifting the present restrictions on pleasure driving in the east. He said:

"We are going to be able to supply the east coast with heating oil and necessary commercial driving and still have some left over for the ordinary motorist."

FOR CITY COUNCIL D. O. DAVIES

To the Voters of New Castle:

When I was returned to Council four years ago, New Castle was suffering from wide publicity given to her industrial condition by certain magazines with national circulation, by which she was advertised as a Ghost Town. I entered upon my present term as your councilman, to find the citizens and all groups and organizations of people in the city very alert to our condition and stirred to action by what was being said about us. The people were not defeated but were rather more determined to do something for themselves by what had happened to them, just as the people of America were rallied to their own defense by the attack on Pearl Harbor.

But the people looked to their elected officials to lead the way. That thing your council did, and with the loyal support and intelligent cooperation of all the people and organizations in this city, the picture has been wonderfully changed. You know that this city is not now a Ghost Town, but that where its steel and tin mills formerly stood, there are now plants so completely and modernly equipped that they will furnish more employment than ever was possible there before. You know that this is so because your city, with the generous help of the county, stepped in and saved those plant sites from being laid waste.

This was all done, too, without increasing the debt of the city at all. It was done out of money saved from current revenues. The fact is that while the Council was embarked on all this new effort, the bonded indebtedness of the city was materially reduced, so that today the city has less than a half million dollars of bonded indebtedness, which is less than half of the amount of debt, which it has had at any time since the First World War.

These things did not just happen, but they are true because you now have in Council, men who are ready and able to serve the people of this city in these troubled times. My part in that service has been the part of one councilman only. What I have been able to do, with the help and cooperation of all, I would like to continue to do, and I am submitting myself again to you at the September primaries as a candidate for reelection. I pledge to you that if I am nominated and elected, I will consider that you have approved of me and the part I have played in New Castle's return to the place she deserves among American cities. I will believe that you believe in me and I will continue to strive to be worthy of your trust and confidence.

I thank all of you for all you have done in my support in the past and I, now, respectfully solicit your help and support in the coming Republican Primaries September 14th.

Respectfully Yours,
D. O. DAVIES

Fourteen Die In Texas Hurricane

Property Loss And Damage Is Estimated At Eight To Eleven Millions

TEN OF DEAD ARE DREDGE CREW MEN

(International News Service)
GALVESTON, Tex., July 29.—The death toll of the tropical hurricane which hit the Texas coast late Tuesday today was placed at 14 persons.
Ten of the dead were members of the crew of the government seagoing hopper dredge "Galveston" which was anchored in Bolivar roads and was blown onto the jetty. Army engineers recovered the bodies. They said that the other 45 members of the crew had been rescued.

The others reported dead were a man drowned in Port Arthur, a child drowned in Houston and two Negroes crushed by falling debris in Galveston.
Property and crop damage was estimated unofficially at from $8,000,000 to $11,000,000 as communication lines were restored and belated reports came in.

Two Hundred Women Awarded Red Cross Merit Certificates

Exercises Mark Completion Of Red Cross Courses Wednesday At High School

At exercises marking the completion of Red Cross courses in Home, Nursing, Food and Nutrition, and Canteen work, held Wednesday evening in the senior high school auditorium, a group of 200 women who have finished 20-hour courses in these subjects recently, received certificates. Presentation of chapter honors was made by Mrs. John J. Elliott, chairman of Volunteer Services for the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Director of federal nutrition community projects in New Kensington, Miss Rose Cologne, was the principal speaker of the evening. Miss Cologne, speaking on "Nutrition Needs in the Time of Crisis," outlined her work as a coordinator of community planning as far as nutrition is concerned, in a program coordinating the efforts of all community agencies, such as schools, industries, welfare agencies, etc. in regard to nutrition.

Following an invocation by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, J. Glenn Berry, vice-chairman of the Red Cross board, extended the chapter welcome and introduced Miss Elizabeth Breslin, executive secretary of the chapter.

Work being done by the Nurses Aide program of the chapter was told by Mrs. J. E. Elliott, after which Mrs. William L. Cosel, Food and Nutrition chairman, spoke on the work of her committee and that of the Canteen Aides. She then introduced Miss Cologne.

Mrs. J. Glenn Berry, Home Nursing chairman, introduced instructors in the three courses, including Mrs. James Brunswick, Mrs. Joseph P. Dagnon, Miss Edith Smith, Mrs. E. J. King, Mrs. W. L. Cosel, Mrs. Paul Hoeslars, Mrs. M. B. Rosenberg, Mrs. Thomas Sadler, and Mrs. J. C. Ward.

Vocal numbers during the program were by Mrs. Ross Rosenberg, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Welsh.

Motor corps members who served as ushers were Mrs. John McIlwraith, Mrs. Blake Waldo, Mrs. Charles Magill, Mrs. Harold Heck, Mrs. Earl Dart, and Mrs. James Stone.

Defense Council To Distribute Retorts For Canning Soon

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 29.—The state defense council today was prepared to allocate 250 retorts to food conservation committees for canning victory garden produce.

The retorts, which will process 33 quarts of vegetables at a time, will be shipped by the manufacturer within 30 days, the council said.

"We are fortunate to be able to get the retorts," said Mrs. H. E. Eliason, chairman of the Victory Garden Committee. "When put to use in community kitchens they will enable housewives, who lack canning experience or necessary home facilities, to can large quantities of Victory Garden produce for winter use in a convenient and efficient manner."

Man can live without air for a few minutes; without water for about two weeks; and without food for about two months.

Agatha's church, Ellwood City; second vice-president, Rev. Fr. Francis C. Streiff, of St. Joseph's church; secretary, Margaret Valley, of St. Mary's church; treasurer, Clare Duff, of St. Joseph's church.

Directors for two years are: Mrs. Frank Colao, St. Vitus church; Mrs. Sara Boyle, St. Mary's church; Mrs. John Griffith, New Castle hospital; Mrs. Mary Conti, St. Vitus church and Stephen Gonda, Jr., of St. Michael's church.

Directors for one year include: Mrs. Rose DeMarzio, of the Purification church, Ellwood City; Mrs. George Kay, St. Agatha's church, Ellwood City; Mrs. George Kay, St. Agatha's church, Ellwood City; Fred Gallo, St. Anthony's church, Bessemer; Ed Lynch, St. Mary's church and Louis Izzo, of St. Lucy's church. All Catholic parishes of Lawrence County were represented at this first meeting of the conference, the purpose of which is to attend every need necessary and proper for a social agency.

Attending as guests at the meeting were Judge W. Walter Braham, and District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson.

Frequent but shallow cultivation or hoeing should be given at seven to 10-day intervals from the time seedlings appear above the ground in the victory garden until the plants become so large that one cannot move through the rows without injuring the foliage.

Twenty Young Bean Pickers Hurt When Truck Breaks Down

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., July 29.—State police today were investigating an accident in which 20 youthful bean pickers were injured, one critically, when a truck chassis separated at nearby Spring Grove last night. Fifteen-year-old Robert Masenheimer of North Codorus township was rushed to the Hanover hospital suffering a fractured skull and possible internal injuries. Eight children were treated at hospitals for minor injuries while others were aided by physicians.

The truck, driven by Paul Mummert of Hanover, was transporting 55 children home after picking beans when the accident occurred.

All In Readiness For Benefit Show

Expect Thousands At Taggart Stadium For Wounded Soldiers Benefit Friday

HOPE WEATHERMAN WILL CO-OPERATE

You can take this for sure, there's going to be a crowd at the benefit boxing tournament in Taggart Stadium Friday night, July 30, for the benefit of the Deshon General Hospital. A partial ticket checkup on Wednesday night indicates a lot of seats are going to be covered and a checkup of the program indicates that nobody is going away dissatisfied.

As to the arrangements for the benefit, nothing remains to be done except grab a hunk of nice weather. With good weather the affair is going to be something you'll be glad you went to and sorry if you didn't.

Gates Open 6:45

The gates will open at 6:45 to permit the crowd to get into the seats before the start of the program at 7:30. The United States Coast Guard band will open the program of entertainment and is scheduled for a lot of good music before the boxing starts.

The Ladies' Chorus of the Standard Steel Spring Co. will present several chorals and the GAC's of the senior high school will present a drill under the direction of Miss Margaret Fischer. During one of the band numbers Miss Christina Giannotti will direct sixteen girls in a baton drill.

The boxing bouts will start at 8:45 and eight good bouts have been arranged by the Jefferson A. C. Pfc. Frankie Moran of the United States Army and Burl Charity Golden Gloves champion of Youngstown will top the bill, with seven other fast bouts on the card. Referees will include such ring notables as Jackie Fields, former world's welterweight champion, George Chip, former middleweight champion, Tom McMahon who defeated Jess Willard, Samy Levyschok, a Sharon sportsman, and the one and only Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburgh, who was a ring figure for a generation.

Judges will include a number of sports figures with the judges alternating the bouts. The evening's program should be over about 10:30 o'clock.

Special guests of the evening will be Colonel E. J. Gentzkow, commandant of the Deshon General Hospital, Lt. Thomas Perry, public relations officer for the hospital and a group of officers. And some very special guests will be 50 wounded soldiers from the hospital who have recuperated sufficiently to be permitted to come over under the care of attendants.

Tickets Still Available

The capacity of the stadium is large and there are still a lot of good seats available. Tickets will be on sale at the box office at $1.25 and $1.10. Patron's contributions are still being received at ten dollars the copy and for each ten dollar contribution the donor will be given a ringside seat.

As for the weatherman, the committee is looking right at him and singing, "It All Depends On You." With good weather the crowd should be large and the larger the crowd the larger will be the amount of money turned over to the Deshon General Hospital for the entertainment and recreation fund.

A piece of your money should be represented in that check.

Rowland Appointed Salvage Coordinator For Nine Counties

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 29.—Pennsylvania's housewives were urged today to redouble their salvage efforts to assure adequate supplies of waste materials for war industries as the State Defense Council selected Mrs. D. Ray Murdock, of Greensburg, vice-chairman of the salvage committee.

Warren R. Roberts, chairman, said Mrs. Murdock had been selected to "assist in the intensification of our program of home salvage" and called upon local committees to strengthen women's groups. Simultaneously, Roberts announced the appointments of salvage co-ordinators in regions established by the council. They were: No. 5—Mrs. George R. Lamade, of Williamsport, in Cameron, Centre, Clinton, Lycoming, Northumberland, Potter, Snyder and Union counties.

No. 7—Roger W. Rowland, of New Castle, in Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Fayette, Greene, Lawrence, Washington and Westmoreland counties.

STILL IN DIAPERS, but already this young son of C. W. Maddox of Santa Paula, Cal., is showing signs of becoming a top cowboy, range rider and bronco buster. There's a precedent for his wearing of that 10-gallon hat, too, because his grandfather was an Arizona cattleman. (International)

MILLIONS LISTEN

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 29.—President Roosevelt's address to the nation last night was heard by 42,704,000 persons, or 55.9 per cent of the radio audience, C. E. Hooper, Inc., a research firm announced today. The highest Hooper rating for a presidential broadcast was that following Pearl Harbor when an estimated 62,100,000 people or 79 per cent of the listening audience tuned in.

Among the Egyptians the uraeus serpent was regarded as especially sacred and adorned the entrances to their temples.

Paul H. Shaw, seaman, has left for Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., after a short visit with his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Shaw, of Morton street, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert, Shaw of Mt. Jackson.

Petty Officer Second Class Aubrey F. Thomas has returned to his station after spending a ten-day leave with his wife at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fowler, of Scotland Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gregor, of Cunningham avenue, have received word that their son, Harry L. Gregor, seaman 2-c, has arrived at Pleasanton, Cal.

Pvt. Donald L. Brown, who has been stationed at Fort Hayes, Columbus, O., has been transferred to Camp Jesse Turner, Ark., according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Clara Brown, of 336 1/2 Produce street.

Purple Heart Given Father Of Marine Killed In Solomons

Late Cpl. Crescendo De Matteis Is Awarded Several Decorations

Pasquale De Matteis, of 1117 Dewey avenue, has received a communication from the office of the commandant, U. S. Marine Corps, Washington, D. C., stating that Mr. De Matteis is entitled to the Purple Heart and the inclosed Purple Heart Certificate, as the next of kin of his son, the late Corporal Crescendo (Chris) P. De Matteis, a paratrooper in the U. S. Marine Corps.

The Purple Heart decoration is "For Military Merit and Wounds Which Resulted in His Death." Also enclosed was a copy of the presidential unit citation awarded the First Marine Division, Reinforced, for service in action against the enemy in the Solomon Islands inasmuch as Corporal De Matteis was a member of that organization.

Mexican Official Warns Much Nazi Propaganda Here

Speaks At First Meeting In U. S. Of Inter-American Political Defense Group

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 29.—A warning that there still exist "many subterranean currents of Nazi propaganda and espionage" within the nations of the western hemisphere was issued Wednesday by Dr. Carlos Dario Ojeda, Mexican vice president of the Inter-American Advisory Committee for political defense.

Dr. Ojeda, who also is Mexican ambassador to Uruguay, made his statement at the opening of the committee's first meeting in this country.

The committee, whose function is to advise the American republics concerning measures for their protection against Axis espionage agents, saboteurs and propagandists, has come to the United States to consult with American officials.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in a welcoming address to the committee, said the American republics were alive to the "diabolical schemes" of the Axis powers to engulf the western hemisphere long before Japan launched its "treacherous attack" on Pearl Harbor.

In reply to Hull's address, Dr. Ojeda said the American nations "must remember that the Nazi agents always sow hate and disunion, turning the people against their governments, and the governments against their allies, the one class against another."

Dr. Ojeda said that Germany is spending nearly $300,000,000 annually for the purpose of organizing Germans in foreign lands and to disseminate Nazi propaganda. He recalled a statement by Adolf Hitler that "America is permanently on the edge of revolution, and it will be easy for me to provoke revolt and disquietude in the United States so that those little people will be kept busy."

Daring Sergeant Wins D. S. C. For Heroism In Papua

General MacArthur Calls Montana Man's Deeds "Inspiration To Company"

(International News Service) UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, July 29.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur awarded the distinguished service cross Wednesday to Staff Sgt. Paul Ziegele, Jordan, Mont., member of the American 41st division, for "extraordinary heroism" during the Papuan campaign in New Guinea.

While Allied troops battled to clean up enemy positions in the Sanandanda sector last Jan. 15, Ziegele, covered by a companion, attacked a Japanese machinegun post single handed. Outflanking his foes, he reached the pillbox and fired through the aperture to kill a Jap soldier with his last cartridge.

Lacking time to reload, Ziegele grasped the barrel of the Jap machinegun and tried to pull it through the aperture despite the fact it was still being fired. When this failed, he took cover against the side of the pillbox, reloaded his rifle and killed two more Japs as they emerged.

He then held his new position until fire from other localities forced him to withdraw to his unit.

In presenting the award, General MacArthur said:

"Ziegele's daring acts were an inspiration to the men of his company."

Charges Wallace Aiding Hitler By Dividing Nation

GOP Chairman Spangler Scores His Calling Anti-Fourth Termers Fascists

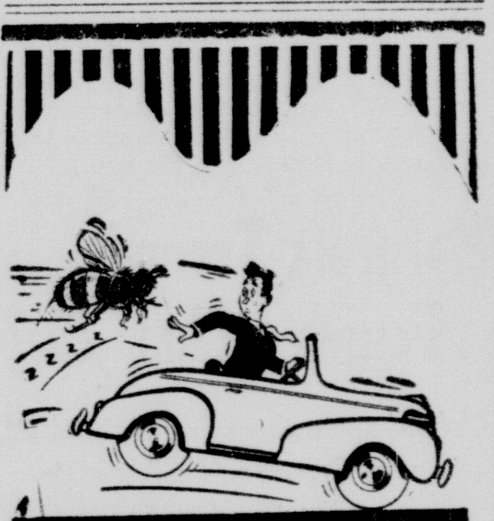

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 29.—The GOP centered its fire on Vice President Henry A. Wallace Wednesday with Republican National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler charging that Wallace is playing into Hitler's hands and seeking to divide the nation internally for "selfish, political gain."

Spangler attacked Wallace for his recent Detroit speech which President Roosevelt said he liked very much. In the address Wallace attacked "powerful groups" who, he said, were taking advantage of Mr. Roosevelt's concentration on the war in an effort to destroy all he had accomplished on the home front in the last 10 years.

Denouncing Wallace for classifying all those opposed to the fourth term as Fascists, Spangler declared:

"The course upon which Mr. Wallace has set his feet, by attempting to label the 25 million voters in America who are opposed to the New Deal as Fascists, is playing right into Hitler's hands. Carried to its ultimate, the vice president's course would mean civil war, but, of course, nothing that Mr. Wallace does is really carried through."

"The vice president has forgotten we are fighting a war. Instead, he has cracked up around him, exposed as a bungler, as father of the food shortage in America, branded as injuring the war effort by a fellow cabinet member. He has turned the clock back to a new hour of name-calling, and an attempt to set group against group, farmer against factory worker, and to unleash 15 months of bitter political warfare on the country."

Moran And Charity Ready For Friday Fight At Stadium

Expect Throng At Taggart Stadium For Deshon Show

Coast Guard Band, Ladies' Chorus, GACs, Baton Drill Plus Boxing

DOORS OPEN AT 7 P. M.; FIGHT FOLLOW DRILLS

Pfc. Frankie Moran, U. S. Army and Berle Charity, Golden Gloves lightweight champ of Youngstown are doled to a physical pink and waiting the bell that will send them off in the feature role of an eight-bout amateur boxing show Friday night at Taggart field. The boxing, plus other splendid attractions will benefit the wounded soldiers in Deshon army hospital near Butler. The doors will open at 7 p. m. and the boxing will begin not later than 8:45 p. m., under the supervision of the State Athletic commission and Amateur Athletic union.

Tommy Leach, matchmaker for the Jefferson Athletic club, stated that the calendar he arranged looks like one of the best he has yet been able to procure. Moran fought consistently before donning Uncle Sam's uniform and Charity is the "top" of Youngstown amateur lightweights. Roy Crews, Ellwood City middleweight, amateur champion of Lawrence county is doctored to oppose Jack Besselman, one of the better Pittsburgh battlers, in the next to last, or semi-final.

Other Bouts On Card

Leonard Zelinski, Pittsburgh vs. Bob Thompson, Youngstown, 135.
Mark Duddy, New Castle (a very promising youngster) vs. Doner Nulph, Pulaski, 147.
Eugene Douglas, Youngstown vs. Eddie Mays, Warren, 126.
Raymond Nulph, Pulaski vs. Eddie Timbers, Pittsburgh, 147.
Mickey Wargo, Pittsburgh vs. Tommy Crockett, Youngstown, 126.
Dan Patton, Youngstown vs. Vern Nulph, Pulaski, 126.
This may not be the sequence in which the battles will be staged but everybody, after hearing the Coast Guard band, hearing the Standard Steel Spring Ladies chorus, witnessing the GACs' drill and Miss Christina Gianotti and her baton manipulators can look to thrills in the ring show, the first bout being scheduled to start at 8:30 p. m. in order to allow late turn workers a chance to be on the job before 11 p. m.

Here is a list of the committees: Boxing, Ed. Fritz, Tommy Leach, Joe Travers (county commissioner) and Joe Alexander (city councilman).

Matchmaker—Tommy Leach.
Referees, Sam Levshock, Corporal Jackie Fields, U. S. army corporal (stationed at Deshon hospital); former welterweight champion; George Chip, former middleweight champion, Tom McMahon, heavy-weight who outpointed Jess Willard and Patsy Brannigan, hero of 600 battles and who fought several champions.

Police, Firemen Present

Judges, Harry Reese, Tommy Jones, Frankie Ross, Joe Alexander, Harry Evans and Phil Greer.
Timekeeper, Billy Pazzone.
Dressing room attendant and assigned by the Jefferson A. C. to eliminate any delay of boxers entering the ring, Yankee Pagley.
Major H. C. Harper, examiner of the boxers.
Commissioners, Norman Ross, State Athletic commissioner, Ed. Fritz, A. A. U.
Announcer, Bart Richards and Ray Wallace.
Police, Acting Chief Ralph A. Criswell, Russell Melvin and State police.
Fire, Chief James E. Thomas.

No one without a doctor's ticket, except bonafide ring officials, will be permitted at the ring. Police will be assigned to enforce the rule.
The ring was installed yesterday. The lighting system was erected today and a good view will be had of the fights.
Ticket offices at the stadium will open at 6:45 p. m. Friday and the doors will open at 7 p. m. The bouts will go on at 8:30 p. m. and not later than 8:45 p. m.

Australians Find Grid Game Bit Too Puzzling

By LAWTON CARVER (International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Perhaps in time football as we play it will be appreciated and enjoyed in Australia through the missionary work of American troops, but right now the game is as strange to the Australians as cricket would be to bleachers at Brooklyn's Ebbets field.

John Henry, former International News Service Sports Writer who currently is one of the young men covering the war in the South Pacific, sends in a clipping from a Sydney, Australia, sports page in which some of the finer points of what is called "gridiron football" are explained.

The piece came out prior to the first game ever played in Sydney, a tussle between U. S. Army and Navy teams.
The article is headed "Gridiron: Football Commando Style," and some of the highlights follow:

Show No Restraint
It (American football) is played with practically no restraint. Records show that in the 1941 season 60 players were killed. Efforts are made to cut down the injury rate.

Americans take their football very seriously.
Some universities admit students simply because they are good footballers. Tuition fees and spending money for these youths are often provided by the old boys of the universities, or by the universities themselves. (ED. NOTE—And we thought subsidizing had been wiped out.)

On Sunday each team will have a special cheering section of 500 men, led by a "yell king," assisted by two yell leaders.

The Americans have had difficulty in obtaining a properly shaped and weighted football. Two Melbourne firms submitted 24 sample balls but each was rejected. (ED. NOTE—This is a reminder that the boys in the services at home and abroad can use more athletic equipment.)

The referee, who blows a whistle, is assisted by an umpire and a field judge (timekeeper), who are on the field with him, and a headlinesman, all of whom blow horns.

Can Find Horns
There are no American gridiron horns in Sydney. For several weeks U. S. special service officers have toured music shops looking for three reasonably small instruments, which hoot or give a low-toned note when blown.

Aside from all the foregoing, John Henry says in a note that the Army won the game from the Navy, on two passes by Major Jorman Duncan to Sgt. Vernon Bell and Pvt. Raymond Kelasky. The score was 14 to 0 as the Australian press reported it.

Comes For Fight At Taggart Field

Today when Ed Fritz arrived in the sports room he found a pleasant surprise, his son, Jack, Pfc. 398th Bombing Group, A. A. B., Rapid City, S. D., having arrived a few minutes earlier.
He was to get a furlough next month. When he received some News clippings telling of the Friday night fight for the benefit of the wounded soldiers at Taggart field he showed them to his C. O.
He asked if it would be possible for his furlough date to be changed. His C. O. granted the request. This means there will be one more at the benefit than was expected and that the army officers are good to their men.
Jack is a close friend of Pfc. Frankie Moran, Russell Baxter and some of the other boxers in service.

Cox's Apology Restores Peace In Philly Family

Players Sign Pact Asking That Fired Harris Get Chance To Resign

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 29.—Peace settled today upon the troubled Philadelphia National league team, whose players staged a 40-minute strike last night as a gesture of loyalty to their ousted manager, Bucky Harris.

Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons, yanked suddenly from the Brooklyn Dodgers, was in charge of the Phils, and Bucky Harris, who smarted from his dismissal without notice and loudly said so, apparently was mollified after a handsome apology from Owner William D. Cox.

Players Balk

That the players, who declared they would not go onto the field until Bucky was given the chance to resign, had no animus against his new manager, Fitzsimmons, was evidenced after the affair was patched up and when they went out and whipped the champion Cardinals, 6-4.

Twenty-four players signed a statement which they presented to Cox before the game was to start. It said they resented the fact that Cox had not taken up the matter with Harris personally and given him the chance to resign.

In view of Harris' years of service in baseball, the players declared they believed he was entitled to "just that decency."
Cox conferred with the players for some time in the clubhouse, then emerged and was joined by Charles Grimes of New York, attorney for the Phils.

The players vacated the clubhouse while Cox and Grimes, who had summoned Bucky, returned to the clubhouse for a talk with the ousted manager. Shortly, Bucky came out with a statement from Cox addressed to him.

Harris Satisfied
In it, Cox described as "an unfortunate incident" the fact that the news of Harris' dismissal had been released before he had the opportunity to resign.

"There was every intent that this be given you," Cox said.
"Cox's statement is good enough for me," Harris announced, and then he left the flare-up.

"The stand the players of the Phils have taken in my behalf flatters me no little," Harris continued. "I feel they have vindicated any charge against me as a baseball manager."

Game Commish Turmoil Ceases; Leffler Chairman

Pledge Stable Wartime Game Program; Earmark $345,000 For Conservation

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 29.—The Pennsylvania Game Commission today presented a united front for the first time in seven months and pledged a conservative wartime game program.

The commission met at Harrisburg late yesterday and ended the confusion surrounding the agency by electing Ross L. Leffler, of McKeesport, chairman, and Robert Lambertson, of Franklin, vice president. Members attending the organizational meeting in addition to Leffler and his aide were Dr. H. E. Kilgus, of Brockway; G. I. Phillips, of Alexandria; and Harold T. Molitz, of Williamsport. Two vacancies remain to be filled while Col. Nicholas Biddle, of Philadelphia, has been granted a leave of absence while with the army.

Plan Game Transfer

Leffler said the commission proposed adopting expanded game transfer and research programs; a modern curriculum for the game protectors training school at Brockway to prepare wardens for post-war problems; and streamlined land management regulations.

Leffler was president of the commission from 1928 to 1931 and again from 1939 to January, 1943, when an insurgent group named by former Gov. Arthur H. James ousted him. Lambertson was re-elected to his second term. Gov. Edward Martin failed to re-appoint any of the recalcitrant members who reportedly sought the dismissal of Seth E. Gordon, of Harrisburg, executive director at $10,000 a year. Gordon will be retained, the commission indicated.

The commission had earmarked approximately $345,000 for conservation expenses if license fee revenues declined dangerously during the 1943 session, Leffler said. The commission anticipated issuing about 500,000 licenses in 1943 as compared with 640,000 last year and 685,000 in 1941. Inductions into the armed forces and the inability of sportsmen to leave their war jobs were cited for the decline.

Ammunition Ample

Gordon said federal wildlife authorities had given assurances that sportsmen would receive ample ammunition, especially those in rural areas. He indicated the government would undertake to break the black market that has been operating in hunting ammunition. He said the biggest problem was how to "get it into sportsmen's hands." Gordon added that while most ammunition would be plentiful, there would be a marked decline in "pumpkin balls" used by some hunters for deer.

HAGG WILL RUN FOUR MORE MILE RACES, THEN LEAVE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Gunder Hagg definitely will run four more mile races in this country and in the grand finale to be held here at Randall's Island on August 19 the officials will set the stage for a record-breaking performance insofar as it is possible, Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U., announced Wednesday.

Hagg will make his next start at Cleveland on July 31, then will appear at Cincinnati on August 7 and is tentatively booked for August 14 at Indianapolis. After which, he will return here for his farewell at Randall's Island, scene of his first race in this country.

Handicap Good Idea

Competition in the final here will be provided by Gil Dodds and Bill Hulse from scratch and by a number of others yet to be named who will be given handicaps and thus be in position to draw Hagg out to possibly his best effort in this country—and perhaps a new record.

His performance at Boston last Saturday night, when he approached the record with a 4:05.3 run, has spurred new interest in his tour and caused arrangement of the final race, Ferris said.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

It appears as though the Philadelphia Phils situation is somewhat troubled. The players may strike unless Bucky Harris is given an opportunity to resign. Bill Cox dismissed Bucky and assigned Freddie Fitzsimmons to the role.

The Arena ring will be erected today at Taggart stadium. Tommy Leach of the J. A. C. superintendent of the streets department working under the authority of Commissioner James Gibson. Tonight the writer will go to the field for an inspection when Bill James of the Penn Power, Rex Hughes of the city and other linemen turn on the lights.

There will be five judges at the boxing bouts, the officials to arbitrate. They are as follows: Harry Reese, Harry Evans, Tommy Jones, Frankie Ross and Phil Greer. There are no draws in amateur boxing. Therefore there will be a winner and loser in each battle.

Rip Sewell's 16th Win Lifts Bucs Into Second; Phils Revolt, Then Cop

Phillies Stage 40-Minute Strike Protesting Dismissal Of Harris; Cox Settles Issue With Appeasing Statement To Bucky; Pirates Flatten Giants, 8-3, Before 29,585 Fans; Indians Slap Yanks, 6-2

By JOHN CASHMAN (International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Hard on the heels of the Brooklyn Dodgers, turmoil which ended in the expulsion of Bobo Newsum, came the revolt of the Philadelphia Phillies today who last night staged a 40-minute strike protesting the firing of their manager, Bucky Harris.
The Phils delayed the start of their game with the St. Louis Cardinals 40 minutes, but capitulated with Club President William Cox addressed and appeasing statement to Harris. From there the Phils went on to take a 6 to 4 win from the league leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Dodgers In Third

Meantime the Brooklyn Dodgers who gave up Freddie Fitzsimmons to be the Phils' new manager slipped into third place today after they dropped a double game to the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 7 and 4 to 2.

The Pittsburgh Pirates had advanced to second place by nine percentage points capitalizing on Brooklyn's defeat and the thrashing they gave the New York Giants in an 8 to 3 night victory.

In each Cubs' triumph, the victory was scored the hard way as the Chicagoans came from behind to win. The Dodgers poured all their resources, including six pitchers, into the opener, but twice blew a lead. The Cubs overcame a two-run deficit in the ninth to tie the score, then emerged on top in the 11th inning when Stu Martin singled in Earl Goodman with the winning run.

In the nightcap, the Cubs' Harry Lowrey overcame Brooklyn's one-run lead by tripling in the seventh with two aboard.

Sewell Nails 16th

While the amazing Rip Sewell was pitching nine-hit ball for his 16th triumph, his teammates climbed all over Carl Hubbell, Harry Feldman and Van Lingle Mungo for fourteen hits. The Pirates jumped into an early one-run lead in the first inning, added another in the fourth, then went on to score three in the fifth, two in the sixth and the last tally in the eighth. Close to 30,000 saw the war benefit game.

The Boston at Cincinnati night game was postponed.

Moving into the American League, the Boston Red Sox grabbed both ends of a twin bill with the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1 and 6 to 4. The Red Sox made only six hits off Virgil Trucks and Tommy Bridges in the opener, but four of them, including a homer by George Metkovich, counted for runs. Dick Newsum, pitching the first eight innings for the Red Sox, gained credit for his second win of the year in the nightcap.

The Cleveland Indians thrashed the New York Yankees 6 to 2, when both teams combined were beaten by the North Carolina pre-flight Cloudbusters, 11 to 5. In the opener, the Indians walloped Spud Chandler in the very first inning with a four-run rally. Frankie Crosetti accounted for half New York's runs with an eight-inning homer.

The Cloudbusters' triumph was their twenty-fourth in their last 27 starts. Babe Ruth, who managed the Yankees, took a couple of cuts at the ball, eventually drawing a walk.

Browns Cop, 5-1

The St. Louis Browns took over the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 1. Chas. Laabs smashed out a homer for Browns' cause in the sixth inning, and clubmate McQuinn followed up with another in the ninth.

The Chicago White Sox gave the Washington Senators a thorough 12 to 7 walloping in a night game, thus preventing the Senators from creeping into second place, six percentage points over the already twice-thrashed Tigers. The White Sox really poured it on. There were only three innings in which they did not score, and when the slaughter was over, they had collected 21 hits.

BACK IN 207

Away back in 1907, Old Honesty ran one mile, 100 yards at the Empire race track in 143 4-5 which stands as a record.

Good Recovery In New York Market Today Following Recent Recessions

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 29.—The stock market staged a good recovery today after suffering severe losses for the past three sessions. Some gains ran to well over 2 points. Trading was moderately active.

Practically the entire list shared in the rise but liquors, amusements, and United Air Lines in aviation, rubbers and some of the specialties, scored the greatest advances.

Pepsi-Cola was strong, gaining 2 1/2 points before backing away slightly. Other features, with gains running to well over 2 points, were National Distillers and Schenley in liquors, Douglas, American Air Lines, and United Air Lines in aviation.

Locks in amusements, Chrysler and General Motors in motors, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber, and Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck in mail orders.

Rails, with Illinois Central up over a point at its high, were steady as were steels, utilities, rail equipment, farms, equipments, coppers, communications, chemicals, merchandising shares, and foods.

The bond market also was substantially higher with rails leading the upswing in active trading.
